“Scheduling on the Right Track - working for Anexia”

HS 8 | Tuesday, 17 March 2026 | 9:45 a.m.

Abstract
In my internship at Anexia, I worked on several projects for a major railway provider, where I learned the basics of collaborative programming, large-scale optimization, and unit testing. I will also share insights into the team culture, the Christmas party, and a restructuring of the company that happened while I was there. Finally, I will reflect on my personal learnings about time management, organization, and how to structure a successful workday.

Roswitha Rissner and the Department of Mathematics look forward to seeing you at the talk!
